STAGE 6

Unusual Food

Across the world, humans have devised dishes that unite and divide people's taste buds. No matter where you are from, there will be dishes that you wouldn't like to live without, but that might seem strange to those coming to visit. Classic British foods like mince pies, black pudding and pork pies are often met with concerned looks by foreign travellers. With that in mind, let's take a look at some of the more unusual dishes that are popular around the world.

Chickens' feet

Most of us have eaten chicken at some point, but we tend to stop when we get to the bottom of the leg. Many people in Asia, the Caribbean, South America and South Africa go a little bit further.

If you can get past the annoying bones, apparently, chicken's feet are very tasty when flavoured, and the texture is just like regular chicken skin. Perhaps one to add to the list to try?

Kibbeh

Popular in the Middle East and Turkey, Kibbeh is considered a delicacy. It is a stew made of stewed cow's feet and its head. Sometimes it is made using the same parts of a sheep, or it might also include the stomach.

Maggir

Beloved by many Scottish people, Maggir is definitely a dish that doesn't originate inside the animal's stomach. Nowadays, they are often made with other ingredients instead, but many still prefer the traditional way.

An Extract from Howard Carter's Diary

4th November 1922

- 11 After the discovery of the first step, we exposed fifteen more
20 steps leading down to an ancient doorway, still sealed
31 after all these years. The name on the door was clear:
41 Tutankhamen. They say this tomb is cursed; they say that 49 the ancient pharaoh threatened anyone who disturbed his
62 peace in the afterlife but that will not stop me. For five years
72 we have been digging through the inhospitable desert and I
80 am finally about to make the most important
87 discovery of my life. At last, I
94 will be the one to unearth the
99 final resting place of Egypt's
102 youngest pharaoh. It
106 will be filled with
108 treasures beyond
110 anyone's wildest
111 dreams.

Help, I'm Stuck!

- 11 The week started well but it was all about to change.
20 I had been shedding my skin regularly whenever it
31 became too tight for me - after all, I had been eating
41 a lot of tasty cabbage leaves since I emerged from
50 my egg and I am now nearly one-hundred times
54 bigger than I was!
64 One day everything felt different. I knew it was time
72 to pupate, by forming a strong, hard chrysalis
79 to complete my transformation into a beautiful,
87 graceful butterfly. Everything went well and I had
97 been relaxing in a safe place under a large leaf.
104 However, today trouble struck! My chrysalis began
117 to split and I knew it was time to emerge but I was 128 stuck. I panicked as I tried to free myself from my 130 pupa prison...
